Bob Eugene Lukow

March 4, 1930 - September 13, 2013

Cheryl and I knew Bob from our glorious days with the old Frontier Airlines. Bob was simply a superb individual. Everything he did, he did well. Doris will tell you what a GREAT husband and father Bob was. Those of us who knew him professionally will tell you a better pilot there never was. He was a teacher, a mentor, and a friend. Smooth on the controls, he was an absolute pleasure to be around socially.

Bob has been lining up on Runway two-seven for sometime now. He's lifted off on his flight West and it's sure to be a smooth ride. No doubt he'll have a bright star to steer by and there will be a lot of old friends there to greet him when he lands.

Bob's two sons, Mike and Dennis "gave their all" when serving their Country in the Vet Nam War. The brothers are buried side-by-side under a tree at Fort Logan in Denver. I went to high school with their brother, Bob. I loved talking to Bob Sr. about all his boys as I was their age and I personally knew them. Bob was a sweet, sweet man who endured an unspeakable loss with such dignity.

Doris and Family. We lost a good man. He served his country well, he was a good pilot and good husband and father and friend. Much to be thankful for. I'll cherish the memory of the Lukow family living on the corner of 112th and Little Salt Rd.

Love and prayers,

-Erma McGill

All Bob's many friends at the Old Frontier Airlines are saddened to hear of his passing.

Our condolences to Doris and his family.
